Success at school begins at home.

When families engage in their child's learning, every child can grow up to be whatever they want. Be your child's support system. Be engaged. Be an effective advocate. Help complete the puzzle.

"When today's students leave our classrooms and start working, they will need to do more than memorize answers to succeed in their jobs. Because of Alabama's College and Career-Ready Standards, our students are thinking critically, embracing challenges, and taking risks in their learning – tools all students need to reach their full potential."
